...movement. That the entire West will receive an unprecedented number of settlers is conceded on all sides. A large number of those who are visiting the Panama-California Exposition are either actual or potential home-seekers, searching for locations or in the mood to throw off their old bonds if they find something to their liking.
Thus the ground already is prepared for the propaganda on the possibilities of New Mexico given at all hours of the day at the state's building at the exposition. Lectures, motion pictures and informal talks supplement one another hour after hour of the day; and many personal calls received by the commissioner of publicity at his private office show the seriousness of mind prevailing the crowds.
In the motion pictures the visitors from the East see glimpses of a new land, rich in opportunities and all the things, environment, healthful conditions, good schools, sights new and novel, that go to make life better and brighter. He hears lectures on the big possibilities of individual counties and sections; and, as the whole state is covered day by day, spread out before him as a panorama, it merely is a case of his choosing the section that appeals most to his needs and capabilities.
Those attending the lectures show equal interest in town and country. Splendid visions of irrigation and the richness it produces make the profound impression on some; others are struck by the rapid growth of the cities and the development of the country they serve, whose prosperity is their prosperity. They realize that there are openings in the new country for all classes of legitimate business.
But since no one makes up his mind in a day to remove from his old home, the splendid literature on the state proves a valuable auxiliary to the lectures and "movies." This is available on request; and the requests have been so numerous that a hurry-up call was sent back to New Mexico for more supplies.
It is evident that the commissioners acted with great wisdom in paying so much attention to the fine educational equipment of the state. The films shown of schools, to the University, answer the questions of thousands before they are asked. The school system is visualized; one may see the reality; and the parent says:
"Well, we needn't worry about schools!"
The dry, sparkling air of New Mexico also means a great deal to men from the murky East and South, especially to those children's health have suffered from unfavorable conditions elsewhere. He is told of the wonderfully equable climate of the state, how it is receiving thousands each year in search of health; and again he says:
"Well, New Mexico would be a good state for us all to live! We really would begin to live there!"
Then he sees Indian films, pueblo models, mountain scenes and all the myriad picturesque attractions New Mexico has to offer; and he reasons:
"This state has fine opportunities for business men and farmers; it has excellent schools; the climate is wonderful; besides, it has sights I have wished for years to see. I believe that is the state for me!"
Such expressions are typical of the persons who through the New Mexico building. They appreciate the fact that the state commission has been frank with them and has told them all about the state; and that more detailed information is given gladly

ELECTION DATE PUZZLE.
Why the "First Tuesday After the First Monday" in November?
Nearly all the American world knows that the national election and nearly all of the state elections occur on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, but probably not one in all the millions of voters and nonvoters can tell "why" that date was selected for the choice of electors. The "when" is easy of discovery, but that is another story. It is always the first Tuesday after the first Monday, but anybody who looks at the calendars of several years in November will see that the date varies almost every year.
Years ago the writer inquired of many of the most learned congressmen in Washington as to the "why" of the mystery. Not one could answer except to say, "Bless me, I don't know." Harry Smith, who for four years was journal clerk of the house of representatives, was almost a magician in dragging to light those little mysteries associated with the history of the country. He sought high and low as to the "why" actually for months and then gave it up.
It is really one of the curiosities of our national legislation. H. H. B. Meyer, chief bibliographer of the Congressional library, says:
"As to why the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November instead of the first Tuesday in November was fixed for the date of presidential elections, we have to report that no satisfactory answer can be given."—E. W. Lightner in Pittsburgh Dispatch

RURAL JOYS.
Sing a song of winter time,
Cold and bitter weather;
Meet it with a cheery rhyme,
All of us together!

Shut the window, light the lamp,
To the hearth draw nigher;
Thaw out all the frost and damp
At the open fire.

Toss a bucklog on the blaze,
Spread the circle wider,
Talk and talk of other days—
Fetch a jug of cider.

Crack the nut and crack the jest
Mid the laughter lusty,
Now and then among the rest
One is stale and musty.

Mother, fetch the gingerbread
And the apples mellow;
Even lovers must be fed—
Sally's got a fellow!

Sing a song of ice and snow,
Goodness, how we pity
Them that pleasure never know,
People of the city!

THE EUROPEAN WAR
IN BIBLE PROPHECY.
Undreamed of passions have burst forth, devouring the lands that patient hands have beautified and made fertile, and centuries have stocked with art treasures. To the entire world the war has come as a complete surprise because they have not read our book (600 pages—cloth) telling that just such conditions would exist, only to be followed by the still greater devastation of anarchy. The first edition came from the press in 1917.
Of vast interest and importance is its promise of better things in store for this earth, when the wrath of nations has run its course. Send thirty-four cents in stamps (with this coupon) to cover postage, to The Temple, No. 26 W. 42d St., New York City, and receive a copy promptly.

Sorrow.
A wealthy woman who has lost a $10,000 necklace imagines she has a great sorrow. Why, she doesn't know what sorrow is! Did you ever see a shabbily dressed mother trying to pull two shabby little kids away from the window of a candy store because she didn't have any money to spend on them? That is sorrow. And while the little kids may be broken hearted, they will never know just how badly the shabbily dressed mother feels.—Lope McClure in Cincinnati Enquirer

Microbes Thrive in Salt.
It is a mistake to suppose that salt used as a preservative is fatal to microbes. For the bacilli of typhus, tuberculosis and several other diseases thrive all the better when placed in brine. Blood contains much salt, and this does not prevent microbes from multiplying in it. Dr. Rapph of the Nantes Pasteur institute counted 30,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter in the concentrated brine used for salting fish. Preservatives and bactericides are different things. Salt preserves from decay, but kills no microbes.

Rose on the road, and thoroughly surprised him by thanking him kindly for giving up the road for the machine. Rev. Rose says he was so surprised that he almost fell out of his buggy, and wants the fact known that he has discovered one gentleman automobilist, although unknown to him.
